STARTLING STATISTICS ON LYNCHING IN U. S.

New York, June 1.—That 3,284, men, women and children have been lynched in this country in the last quarter of a century was the assertion of Mrs. Ida Wells Barnett, at the National Negro conference here today. She declared the lynching record discloses the hypocrisy of the lynchers. She declared that the Springfield, Illinois riots were brought about as a result of a woman's charges that she had been attacked without cause, but that this woman afterwards said she had not been harmed.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET TAKES DECIDED BRACE.

Boston, June 1.—The wool market has broadened considerably with the arrival of the greater part of the new clip. Buying by manufacturers continues and prices are still very firm. Level values are now practically back to that which obtained for three years. The average medium territory wools are valued 68 to 70 scoured with staple wools at 77 on a clean basis. Sales of domestic wool are larger now than for several years, while the movement in New Zealand cross-breeds is again substantial.

NEW MEXICO MAN GETS GOOD DIPLOMATIC POST.

Washington, June 1.—George A. Chamberlain of New Mexico was confirmed today as consul to Lourenco, Marques, Africa, at a salary of $5,000 a year.

Alfred W. Cooley has been confirmed by the senate as an associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico.

Delegate W. H. Andrews has recommended that John River of New Mexico be appointed a chaplain in the regular army with the rank of first lieutenant.

A Wreck

is the only fit description for the man or woman who is crippled with rheumatism. Just a few rheumatic twinges may be the forerunner of a severe attack—stop the trouble at the start with Ballard's Snow Liniment. Cures the rheumatism and all pain. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by Center Block Depot Drug Co.

Mirror backs in show windows are one kind of advertisements to attract women.

HOME CURE FOR ECZEMA

Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, Glycerine, Etc., Used as a Simple Wash.

It really seems strange that so many people suffer year in and year out with eczema, when it is now no longer a secret that oil of wintergreen mixed with thymol, glycerine, etc., makes a wash that is bound to cure.

Old, obstinate cases, it is true, can not be cured in a few days, but there is absolutely no sufferer from eczema who ever used this simple wash and did not find immediately that wonderfully soothing calm, cool sensation that comes when the itch is taken away. Instantly upon applying a few drops of the wash, the remedy takes effect, the itch is allayed. There is no need of experiment—the patient knows at once.

Instead of trying to compound the oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., in the right proportions ourselves we are using a prescription which is universally found the most effective. It is known as the D. D. D. Prescription, or Oil of Wintergreen Compound. It is made by the D. D. D. Co. of Chicago, and our long experience with this remedy has given us great confidence in its merits. K. D. Goodall, Center Block drug store.

WHAT CARRIE SAID

The young man who had been coming to see the girl with the new gown for the past year, and had betrayed no tendency to declare himself, settled into his usual chair with a sigh of content. He noticed that the young woman wore a new and becoming gown, but what he did not observe was the light of determination in her eye.

"The funniest thing happened today, Harold," she said at last.

"Carrie asked." "What was it?"

asked the young man. The young woman in the new gown did not answer. She tipped her head sideways and cast down her eyes and appeared confused. "Why, nothing on earth could make me tell you!" she said at last. "It was ridiculous!"

"Go ahead!" insisted the young man, interestedly. "If it was so funny—"

"You mightn't think it funny," objected the young woman. "I don't know just how you would take it. Of course, it was just a joke, and as soon as I caught my breath I nearly died laughing!"

"Well," said the young man, "you might tell me! Who said it?"

"Carrie James," admitted the young woman. "I hadn't seen her for the longest time, and she came at me so suddenly that I—of course I knew she didn't mean it, though she insisted that she was serious. But it was simply too silly!"

"Now, see here," said the young man, "you've simply got to tell me!"

"I suppose I might as well, seeing it is so ridiculous," said the young woman. "I know you'll laugh just the way I did. Carrie said—that is, Carrie asked—how long you and I had—er—had been engaged! Wasn't that funny?"

"H'm!" said the young man. "Ha! ha! Well, I should say that was funny! How'd she ever get that idea?"

"I knew you'd simply die over it," said the young woman. "Isn't it killing?"

"It's a huge joke," said the young man.

The young woman in the new gown bit her lip and then recovered herself. "I might have known you wouldn't be mad about it," she said. "You have such a fine disposition!"

"Why on earth should I get mad?" asked the young man.

"I was afraid you'd be mad at me," explained the young woman. "Lots of men wouldn't understand how perfectly innocent I was. They—they might think; you know, I had spread the report or something. Oh, lots of them would. And they'd be mad to have their names used that way!"

"Great scott!" said the young man. "Why, I'm complimented!"

"Are you, really, Harold?" asked the young woman, anxiously. "Why, I wouldn't for the world lose your—your friendship, you know!"

"I feel just that way, too," said the young man, heartily. "Knowing each other so long as we have!"

"Yes, we have known each other a good while," agreed the young woman. "Why, it seems as if you had always been coming here to call, doesn't it?"

"It seems perfectly natural to be here," said the young man. "I don't know any place that I have a better time."

"I'm so glad," said the young woman. "Why, every time I think of what Carrie said I have to laugh! It was so—so silly! You can't imagine how I felt!"

"Yes, I can," said the young man, cheerfully. "It would have knocked me sideways, myself. Other people have such a way of butting in!"

"Haven't they!" said the young woman in the new gown. "Carrie wouldn't believe me at first when I told her what nonsense she was talking. She said everybody thought—oh, dear me, I didn't intend telling you all the foolish gossip she repeated. It just went in at one ear and out at the other, so far as I was concerned."

"That's right," said the young man. "It never pays to listen to what people say."

"It's just terrible that a man and a girl can't be friends," pursued the young woman, "without people thinking they are sentimental. Why, it's so ridiculous! I'm sorry for anybody who can't understand just friendship! As though we—the very idea!"

"It's too funny for anything," said the young man. "I can imagine how amused you were! Well, if I catch that car I must be going!"

The young woman waved him good-bye from the window and then turned away with a rather grim expression on her face.

"Now, I wonder," she said, "whether Harold is abnormally stupid, or horribly smart! I'd like to know!"—Chicago Daily News.

A SQUARE DEAL AND A SQUARE MEAL

Here's a square deal for the people who can't eat a square meal without after pain and distress.

Go to E. G. Murphey today and get a box of Mi-o-na tablets; the great prescription for indigestion and stomach troubles.

Take one, or if your suffering is intense, two tablets with or after meals and at the end of 10 days if you can't eat a square meal without distress go to E. G. Murphey and get your money back.

That's where the square deal comes in.

But Mi-o-na is really a stomach up-builder of great merit; every day the makers receive more than a dozen letters from grateful people which state that after they had lost all hope Mi-o-na cured.

The quick and positive action of Mi-o-na on the stomach in case of gas, water brash, sour stomach and heartburn is worth a lot of money to any sufferer.

Why not try Mi-o-na at E. G. Murphey's risk. Fifty cents buys a large box.

E. D. Howe, Gardner, Mass., says: "I suffered from severe pains in my stomach. I tried different remedies without relief; after using two boxes of Mi-o-na I found myself completely cured."

Mi-o-na is sold by leading druggists everywhere.
